

BRIDGE FOR MANCHESTER

The Lower Branch of the City Council Takes Up Large Responsibilities.

ASK RICHMOND TO HELP

Disorderly Boys Arrested—City Mission Meets To-day.

Other News.

Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch, 1, No. 1102 Hull Street, 1. The lower branch of the City Council put itself on record last night as being willing to endorse and guarantee the payment of principal and interest of $250,000 worth of fifty-year bonds, at 3 1/2 per cent, for the purpose of constructing a free bridge across the river at Mayo's Island.

The bonds to be issued by the Manchester and Richmond Free Bridge Company, and the property to be mortgaged. The city takes the chances of deriving a large revenue from the tolls on street cars, and the Council of Richmond will be asked to co-operate with Manchester in assuming the responsibility as to the bonds.

A committee was appointed to wait upon the Richmond Council in the matter, consisting of the following members of Council: Messrs. W. Nunnally, C. L. Pettit, R. V. Owen, W. B. Bradlee, R. R. Paine, R. L. Patton, J. B. Rudd, C. L. Hubbard.

The idea is to purchase the old Mayo's Island property and to construct thereat a new and handsome bridge, connecting Richmond with Manchester COUNCIL COMMITTEES.

The following committees are scheduled to meet this week: Almshouse and Poor, at 7:30 this evening; Cemetery, at 7 P.M., at 7:15, and Streets, at 7:30 P.M. to-morrow evening; Finance, at 7:30 P.M. Friday evening. The Fire Board met last night and re-elected all the old firemen, and the Fire Commission was elected a substitute runner.

DISORDERLY BOYS.

A quartette of boys will appear before Mayor Maurice this morning to answer the charge of being disorderly and throwing rocks in the street near Ninth and Tenth last night. The boys were reported by Policemen Moore.

That fine organization, the City Mission, which has done such good work during the severe weather of the winter, to relieve the suffering, will meet this afternoon at 4 o'clock, at the residence of Mrs. E. G. Hill.

An interesting meeting is promised and a full attendance is requested.

JOSEPH E. WILLSON.

The funeral of Mr. Joseph E. Willson will be from the home in Chesterfield county this afternoon, and the burial will be in the Hewlett family burying ground.

Mr. Willson died Monday. He was eighty-two years old and a veteran of the Civil War. He was highly respected by all who knew him.

PERSONAL AND BRIEFS.

Liberty Council met last night and completed arrangements for a fraternal visit to Fulton Council.

Mr. J. B. Cheatham is better. Mr. W. W. Crump is still confined to his room.

A social party will be given at the Presbyterian Church on March 17th at 8 o'clock.

DESIRE NO HELP.

A prominent member of Council said last night, in reference to the bridge question, that he was not in favor of the scheme of building the bridge entirely with Manchester money and push.

"I won't think we shall ask Richmond to come in with us," he said. "We can float the bonds and meet the payments, without Richmond's aid, and think we should go ahead with the work and let Richmond alone."

BAD ROADS HURT TRADE.

The bad roads in Chesterfield county this winter have tended to keep lots of business away from Manchester. County people who have been accustomed to come to town in their wagons have almost entirely abandoned that mode of conveyance. Now they take the trains and electric cars and go on through to Richmond.

The opening up of the weather has caused broad smiles to decorate the countenance of the merchants, for they see again the coming of their country friends.

AT THE THEATRES.

Among the many favorites in Shubert, Nixon and Zimmerman's musical comedy novelty, "A Girl From Dixie," which comes to the Academy this afternoon and to-night are Beatrice Bronte, who has been called one of the most beautiful girls on the stage; Blanche Adams, Victor Gale, Gladys May and the Wilsons, whose attractive stage presence and vocal abilities have done much to promote the success of the production. Earle Lyons' song, "When the Sunflower Turns to the Sun," is one of the strongest hits of the piece.

Crowds See "A Little Outcast."

The success which attended the presentation of "A Little Outcast" at the Bijou last season seems in a fair way to be repeated this week. The same company, headed by Miss Anne Blanche, presented the play at two performances yesterday, winning rounds of applause. The company is pretty well balanced, and showed a marked improvement over the opening night. The players seemed to have "caught the range of the house," and their voices were better modulated. The play will be presented tonight, with matinee Thursday and night Friday.

A Relative of Garrick.

Mr. Henry Blanche, of the "Shore Acres" Company, is a distant relative of the famous English actor, David Garrick. His people were opposed to his becoming an actor, and wanted him to devote himself to the study of law, but he has long since won them over. He plays the part of Dr. Sam Warren in Mr. Hearn's famous play.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN
(BY HARRY TUCKER)

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1934.

"Well, you see," said Teddy, as we sat back in his Morris chair and smoked a Silas Johnson cigar, "it's this way: 'We can afford to get mixed up in that little Russian scrap yet. It's up to us to hold our reins tight for a while. This war has got to run some longer. We need the money. You talk about Russia not buying from us; she can't let it. We have the things, and she's got to have them. So there you are. 'Besides, the party has got to do something to get the people together. With factories and a closing down, because of an overplus, we got to have something to open them up again. This war has got to do it. 'If we get in it, it won't take long to put an end to the little squabble, and what's the use, anyway? 'Yes, but where are we going to get our cash from, if Japan keeps on fighting?' we asked, rubbing our heads a little."

"We'll just have to stop drinking high balls for a while, and we won't have the need of so much champagne to stop our headaches," Ted replied.

"You let that war run along for about six months, and the Republicans will have the finest campaign material you ever saw. After I'm elected, just watch me get in that fight, and it won't take the United States long to own half of Asia and a big slice of Europe."

"Then we shook hands and went over to the Fish Commission to get some seeds to plant in the pond in our front yard at home."

"As we walked down Pennsylvania Avenue toward Harvey's Cafe we felt like eating some oysters, so we dropped into a lunch room and got a cup of hot chocolate."

And then went over to Jim Lawrence's and read the morning papers. It gives us a little dream.

And it's so much more impressive, because she plays mostly the parts that call for emotion in its strongest sense. Miss Fuller is to be with us this summer, with the Bennett-Moulton Company, for a season.

Her work is of the finest, and the management can but feel her strength. There are few actresses we know of these days who lose their identity in the work. Miss Fuller is one, and it makes a fellow feel good to speak of her.

Now we know spring is here. The Honorary Member has come out from his den, and is abroad again. And here's his first hit off the bat. It isn't even about the beautiful spring; it's about a fellow who's a dream factory in Rue de la Paix."

Novel Meeting.
The members of Henrice Council of Royal Arch Chapter are arranging for a novel meeting Thursday night. The evening will be known as "Bargain Night," and an interesting musical program has been arranged. Several candidates will be up to cross the burning sands, and hustling Harry Kemp, the popular deputy grand, will pay the council an official visit. The evening's pleasure will wind up with an old-fashioned Virginia smoker.

And what did you break to 343?"
